History

John Whitaker needing no introduction, his namesake saddles are manufactured for show jumping, dressage, working hunter and general purpose saddles for everyday use alongside competition riders.

He works with small team to produce luxury & affordable adjustable saddles to suit most horses.

Performance & Demand Range

Whitaker have a gullet change system in 5 of the Performance Range and all of the Demand range up to 2XW. The Demand range is budget friendly with a combination of leather and synthetic material. The performance range is all leather.

Gullets can be easily changed at home with instruction or by a professional.

Interesting fact!*

Some Whitaker models have a small pocked to allow some flocking material to help with adjustability in the panels.

Despite Whitaker being known for show jumping he has worked to create an affordable range of Dressage saddles too!

What makes Whitaker different.....

The saddle range is available in both adjustable gullet trees and heat adjusted trees in a variety of leather and part leather options.

Careful thought has gone into the the range making it assessable for all rider abilities.

If your looking for something a bit special.....

The Argento show jumping saddle is designed and used by John Whitaker for International competitions.

Shock absorbing latex panels are lined with memory foam to mould perfectly to the horse and won't harden over time. They can also be flocked with traditional wool if required.
